COMMANDING OFFICER CPT J. D. ROHRBOUGH, USN

CAPT Rohrbaugh is a Naval Academy graduate from Glenville, West Virginia. His Naval career has included CO tours on the USS WOODPECKER (MSC-209), a coastal minesweeper, and the frigate, USS THOMAS C. HART (FF-1092). CAPT Rohrbaugh received a Masters degree in Air Ocean Environment from the US Navy Postgraduate School in Monterey and is also a graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College. In his four years as CO of NROTC Unit, Notre Dame, CAPT Rohrbaugh has made the Unit one of the best NROTC Units in the entire nation.

EXECUTIVE OFFICER CDR B. L. WORMS, USN

CDR Worms is in his first year as XO of NROTC Notre Dame, taking over the position this past February. He began his college education at the University of Illinois, and completed his Baccalaureate Degree at the University of Nebraska.

Before graduation CDR Worms enrolled as an Aviation Officer Candidate, and after receiving his degree he entered flight training. After designation as a Navy Pilot, he was assigned to helicopter Flight Attack Squadron Three, RUN, where he participated in over 400 combat missions. After his second operational tour he was selected for post graduate school, and earned his Masters Degree in Anti-Sub Warfare Systems Engineering.

He has served tours in HSL (LAMPS) Squadrons on all classes of FF and DD type ships. Prior to coming to Notre Dame, CDR Worms was stationed at the Naval Oceans Systems Center in San Diego where he served as military director for an advanced systems planning group.

FIRST CLASS INSTRUCTOR LCDR R. K. HARTZELL, USN

LCDR Hartzell is a graduate of the NROTC Unit at the University of Kansas. He served in Vietnam directly after receiving his commission and then he applied for flight training and became a P-3 pilot. Prior to serving at Notre Dame LCDR Hartzell was stationed at the Naval Air Test Center, Patuxent River, Maryland. In addition to teaching the First Class Midshipmen, LCDR Hartzell handles all the administrative details in preparing the Midshipmen for their commissioning as Naval Officers. After a long career in the Navy, LCDR Hartzell is retiring from the Navy after this school year. This Unit will surely miss his great talents and we wish him the very best in his future civilian life.

THIRD/FOURTH CLASS INSTRUCTOR LCDR P. M. RATHBUN, USN

LCDR Rathbun earned a BA in English and a Masters in Library Science from C. W. Post College in New York. In 1975 she enrolled in OCS and then served at the Naval Facility Barbers Point, Oahu, as Oceanographic Research Watch Officer. Her previous assignment was as Protocol and Administrative Officer at Naval Station New York. In addition to her duties as one of the fourth class advisors, LCDR Rathbun teaches both third and fourth class midshipmen and serves as advisor for both the IRISH WAKE and IRISH PENNANT.

SECOND CLASS INSTRUCTOR LT J. F. EHLERS, USN

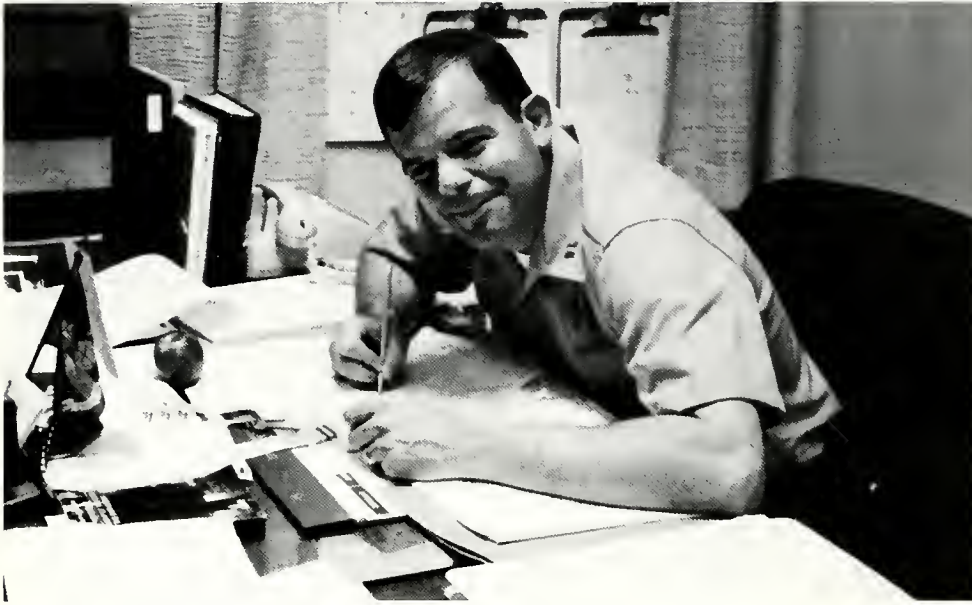

LT Ehlers graduated from the United States Naval Academy with a B.S. in Aerospace Engineering. He then attended Nuclear Power School and Submarine School. LT Ehlers has served aboard the USS SAM HOUSTON (SSBN 609), as Electrical Asst., DCA, and Weapons Officer, and the USS AUGUSTA (SSN 710), as Main Propulsion Assistant. LT Ehlers now serves as the Second Class Instructor at the Unit.

FOURTH CLASS INSTRUCTOR LT R. MURKOWSKI, USNR

Mr. Murkowski is a new freshman instructor and is a native of Wausau, Wisconsin. LT Murkowski received his degree from the University of Wisconsin in Marketing/Management and went on to receive a Masters in Operations Research. LT Murkowski, as a surface warfare officer, has served in many capacities, such as ASW officer, 1st LT, and Communications officer, aboard the USS STERETT (CG-31). In addition to his educational duties, he has created a Trident Society at the Unit in order to enhance the professional development of the Midshipmen.

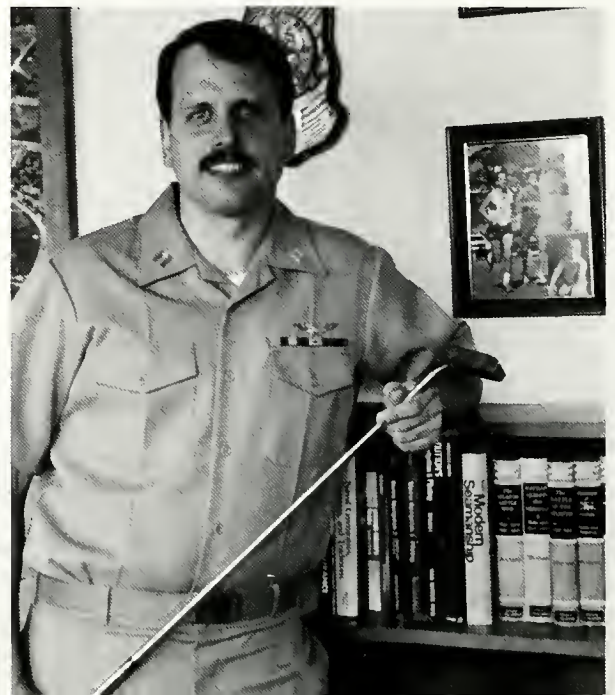

MARINE OFFICER INSTRUCTOR CAPT J. L. SWEENEY, USMC

In his second year of his tour of duty here at Notre Dame, CAPT Sweeney is a 1975 graduate of the NROTC Unit at the University of Illinois. After commissioning he went to TBS in Quantico, VA., and then moved on to the 1st Combat Engineering Battalion. He spent two years as Combat Cargo Officer aboard the USS OKINAWA (LPH-3). After attending Advanced Engineering School, he joined the 7th Support Group as both Company Commander and Battalion Operations Officer.

THIRD CLASS INSTRUCTOR LT T. C. WACHTL, USN

After a two year enlistment in the Marine Corps, LT Wachtl received his B.A. and M.S. degrees in communicative disorders at the University of Wisconsin, EauClaire. He entered AOCS in 1979, receiving his commission in 1980. LT Wachtl was last assigned to UP-26 in Brunswick, Maine, and was deployed to Spain, Portugal, Scotland, Bermuda, and Iceland. LT Wachtl arrived at Notre Dame two years ago and has enjoyed his time here.

ASST. MARINE OFFICER INSTRUCTOR GYSGT R. BETANCOURT, JR., USMC

Gunny Betancourt is a native of Bronx, New York, and entered the Marine Corps in August 1970. Gunny arrived from his last duty station in Hawaii a year ago this past summer. Among his various duties, Gunny runs such all-time favorites as Bulldog Prep and the PFT. The Gunny is also in charge of running drill and making sure that all of us have the proper military bearing by the time commissioning rolls around.

NAVIGATION QMCS (SW) G. M. WILLIAMSON, USN

QMCS Williamson has a wide and varied Naval career which he has used these past two years here at Notre Dame. His desire to help midshipmen is apparent to all, always willing to talk to any of us concerning any matter. In addition to running the NROTC Library, his other primary duties lie in assisting with the instruction of the Navigation class which midshipmen take in their Junior year.

SUPPLY

SKC M. R. DARRAH, JR., USN

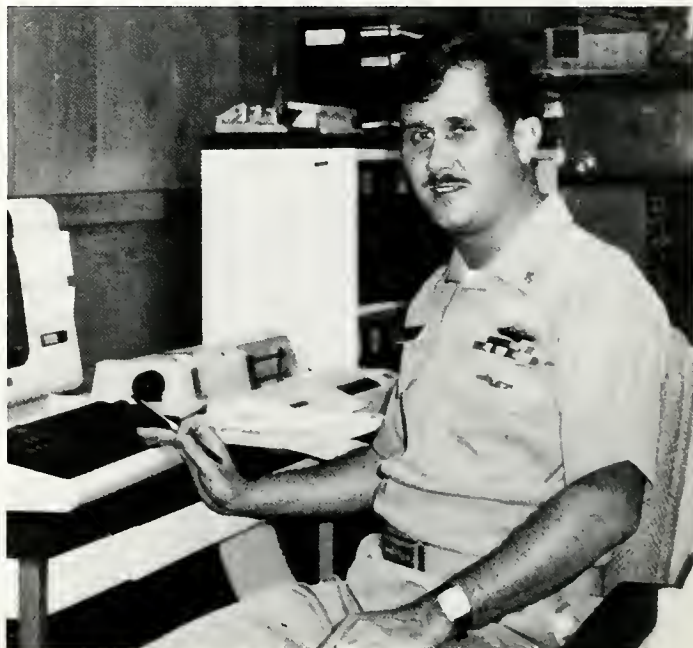

Chief Darrah is retiring from the Navy after 23 years of diligent service following completion of the school year. Chief came to Notre Dame almost 4 years ago from the USS CONSTELLATION. Since joining the Unit he has done everything in his power to insure that the Battalion is the best looking in the United States. The entire Battalion will miss seeing Chief Darrah around the Unit from now on and on behalf of the entire Unit the IRISH WAKE would like to wish Chief Darrah the best of luck in the civilian world.

ADMINISTRATION

YNC(SS) B. R. BARLOW, USN

Chief Barlow takes care of the administrative needs of the Unit. Chief Barlow has been in the Navy since 1968 and during this time has seen duty on numerous ships including a carrier, and four submarines. Chief Barlow is always willing to talk to the midshipmen about the Navy and provides another source of valuable information when the midshipmen begin to decide on career paths in the Navy.

MRS. JEANE O'DAY

Mrs. O'Day has been at the Unit for 4 years. She is a government employee, recently receiving a 20 year pin for her Federal service, and is a native of Syracuse, New York. She is the Captain's personal secretary and does a very fine job.

MRS. JILL HARTMAN

Mrs. Hartman is a native of Goshen, Indiana and has been with the Unit for seven years. Mrs. Hartman handles the miscellaneous office work which must be done in the office.

MRS. MARY ZACK

Mrs. Zack is a native of South Bend and has been with the Unit for 2 years. Her primary duty is to organize the orders and travel arrangements for the midshipmen's summer cruises.

SUMMER

MIDN 1/C Dan Hausauer stands on board the USNS Neosho (T-AO143) observing the USS Nimitz approaching to take on aviation fuel.

A CH-46 landing aboard the USS Belleau Wood (LHA-3).

CRUISE

A temple near the city of Pusan, South Korea.

Midshipmen must prepare for their future Naval career in many ways during their time at Notre Dame. In addition to time spent during the school year they are required to spend approximately one month in the fleet each summer. Although this time at sea is filled with a lot of work it also gives the midshipmen a chance for some fun and exciting liberty in the U.S. and in many exotic places around the world, such as Japan, Korea, Spain, Italy, and Australia.

MIDN 2/C Christine Glavin relaxes with another midshipmen at CORTRAMID 1985 before being shipped to Marine Week.

MIDN 2/C Mike Kelly prepares to fly in the backseat of the fighter plane.

FRESHMEN ORIENTATION

CAPT Rohrbough scrutinizes the new group of Midshipmen.

The class of 1989 entered the unit this year and as usual they were welcomed into the unit with Freshmen Orientation. The week provides the incoming freshmen with a chance to learn some initial military discipline along with the opportunity to begin their Naval career by filling out all the necessary paperwork.

The freshmen learn the basics of marching from the Gunnery Sergeant, and participate in activities such as physical fitness training, field meets and competitions between the companies. The whole week creates a spirit of camaraderie among the freshmen and also provides them with an excellent manner in which to begin their college career.

Far left: MIDN 2/C Glavin welcomes an incoming freshman with a quick inspection of his unpolished shoes and missing nametag. Left: MIDN Glavin exhorts her company in the tug of war competition.

The PFT - that biannual event that puts the body and mind to the test. Performing a rigorous combination of pushups or pullups, sit-ups, and a three mile run, midshipmen prove their abilities. This year the Battalion was blessed with hot and humid conditions in September and snow flurries in April. Many midshipmen prepared for the PFT at the Physical Enhancement Program during the fall semester and at Bulldog Prep during the spring semester.

As the three mile run begins the midshipmen begin to spread out into different levels of ability.

MIDN 1/C Huber likes to "Aim High", so to speak.

"This is a good exercise because it works on my favorite muscle - my beer muscle."

PURDUE INVITATIONAL SPORTS FESTIVAL

MIDN 2/C Tim Wolters displays the form which earned him a second place finish in the bowling competition.

MIDN 1/C John Bruening leads the Basketball Team to a third place finish.

MIDN 4/C Michelle Pavolka demonstrates the Pavolka grip made popular by herself in the women's bowl competition.

UNIT BASKETBALL TEAM

The Notre Dame Netter Club, coached by LT Wachtl and SKC Darrah, competed in the annual Great Lakes Basketball Tournament on March 21 and 22. After losing the first game in the double elimination tournament to Miami (Ohio), the team went on to win its next four games. The final loss was to Minnesota, which resulted in a fourth place finish for the team. They also competed in the Purdue Invitational on March 31. Next year should be a good year with many upperclassmen returning for another season.

Reilly calls "Nothin' but net" ... then cans it!!

KNEELING (L-R): John Bruening (co-captain), Brian Koehr (co-captain), John Shea, Larry Lemanski, Bill Hayes. STANDING: SKC Darrah (coach), Pete Lindstrom, Kevin O'Brien, Tim Reilly, Jeff Burcham, Mike Knapp, Jim Goebel, LT Wachtl (advisor).

John Bruening's strong inside move pays off for two.

The team rallies around coach Darrah for a dose of MOTIVATION.

Brian Koehr drives hard past a Buckeye going for an Oscar.

MIDN 1/C Jeff Burcham attempts to throw a TOUCH-DOWN pass.

MIDN 2/C Michael Barron doesn't seem to agree with the play called by MIDN 1/C Scott Cade.

During the fall semester the Battalion gets together on Friday afternoons for a friendly game of flag football. The turnout this year was usually real good and many different members of the Battalion got a chance to compete against each other. The four companies struggled against each other every Friday for many weeks but in spite of many competitive feelings everyone had fun and realized it was the playing of the game and not just a victory which made the afternoon fun. But WINNING wasn't bad either.

COMPANY FOOTBALL

MIDN 1/C Dave Stevenson prepares to run a curl on the right side of the field.

MIDN 1/C John Baker charges at the opposing quarterback.

FALL AWARDS

MIDN 1/C Stune, Zimmer, Knaus, and LaGorio show an enthusiastic response to the award presentations.

On 26 September the Battalion gathered for the Fall Awards Ceremony. In addition to the bi-annual awarding of academic stars many other awards such as physical excellence certificates, two and three scholarships, and qualifications which were earned while on summer cruises. This fall the special attraction was the awarding of the Navy Humanitarian Service Medal to MIDN 3/C Musgrove, Marvel, and Cissel for their participation of the rescuing of Vietnamese refugees while on third class cruise aboard the USS Ogden.

MIDN 1/C Jordan receives an award from CAPT Rohrbough.

MIDN 3/C Musgrove, Marvel and Cissel show their Navy Humanitarian Service Medals which they received for their participation in the rescue of Vietnamese refugees while aboard the USS Ogden.

MIDN 2/C Chris Edwards receives his two year scholarship from CAPT Rohrbough.

CAPT Rohrbough gives an award to MIDN 1/C Jeff Burcham.

SPRING AWARDS

MIDN 1/C Bowen receives his punishment for letting a Navy Option "borrow" the headdress of the head of Semper Fidelis Society.

SKC Darrah presents a plaque to the Battalion in honor of his retirement from the Navy.

CAPT Rohrbough awards MIDN 1/C Chura with an official Marine Corps Sword.

The Spring Awards Ceremony was held on 5 May. The ceremony consisted of the normal awarding of academic stars and physical fitness awards. In addition to these all time favorites this ceremony had a few new wrinkles such as the retirement of LCDR Hartzell and SKC Darrah and the chastisement of the keeper of the headdress worn by the President of the Semper Fidelis Society. Some Navy Option got a hold of the hat without the knowledge of MIDN 1/C Peter Bowen, who was in charge of the safety of the hat. This hat was then returned at the awards ceremony where MIDN Bowen was made to wear it in front of everyone.

MIDN 1/C Scott Cade gives LCDR Hartzell a monogrammed ND blanket as a retirement present from the Battalion.

MARINE ORIENTATION

The MO's are now ready to be yelled at.

MIDN 2/C Christine Glavin sure looks like she is enjoying those MRE's.

This is certainly an interesting looking formation.

MIDN 1/C Carnesi keeps MIDN 2/C Abitabilo on guard.

The Marines practice carrying each other to safety

MIDN 1/C Bowen is trying to make them laugh.

MIDN 1/C Fuka makes sure everyone has everything.

While wallowing in the mud is not too many people's idea of a way to spend a weekend, it seemed to suit the Battalion's Marine Options just fine. With the campus sleeping on an otherwise peaceful Saturday morning, the MO's were already enjoying a small "taste of Bull dog."

Run by the Senior Marines, the orientation is designed to give the Marines a feel for their branch of the service, while testing their endurance and courage. On the itinerary were events like training maneuvers, forced marches, and PFT's. All of the events served to develop the sense of camaraderie that is so essential for the Marines to remain the world's greatest fighting force.

MIDN 1/C Leary checks that everyone is going to sleep at attention.

MIDN 1/C Lawson and Bowen are making life difficult for MIDN 3/C Rossi.

MARINE CORPS

The Semper Fi Society held their annual Mess Night on 8 November at the University Club. The Mess Night is a tradition in the Marine Corps which dates back to 1776 and is followed by the Notre Dame chapter of Semper Fi every year. This year the honored guest was Colonel Regan USMC. Colonel Regan is a 1961 graduate of Notre Dame and is the commanding officer of the Mobilization Training Unit at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The marines raise their glasses in a toast.

MIDN 4/C Michelle Pavolka upholds the female end of the Marine Corps by smoking the traditional cigar.

MIDN 1/C Gary Chura leads the Marines in a toast.

MESS NIGHT

Colonel Regan enjoys a humorous toast and a good cigar.

Colonel Regan shows his Notre Dame mug which the Marines gave him as a gift for speaking at the Mess Night.

RIFLE AND PISTOL TEAM

The Rifle and Pistol Team is in its second year of existence under the watchful eye of Gunny Betancourt. The team captains are MIDN 3/C Goebel and Sandler. The team competes in mail correspondence tournaments with other units. The main purpose of the team is to stress training with the weapons which all of the Midshipmen will find entering into their Naval Careers.

The Rifle Team is engrossed in the cleaning of their weapons.

MIDN 3/C Rowe discovers that he didn't hit the target yet.

DRILL TEAM

The drill team is performing their maneuvers for the reviewing officer.

"A new fashion Hair spray"

The entire team looks thrilled to be traveling.

The Notre Dame Drill Team is only in its second year of existence but has had a very successful year. On 12 April the team traveled to Bowling Green to compete in a national meet and finished in third place. Considering the youth of the team this finish was remarkable and gives a bright outlook for the coming years.

CAPT Rohrbough converses with MIDN 2/C Pat Hirl while he gives him a once over.

CAPT Rohrbough demonstrates the proper way to tie a tie.

CAPTAIN'S INSEPCION

The Battalion undergoes many tough inspections during the school year with inspecting officers ranging from squad leaders all the way to the Captain himself. The Captain's inspection provides the most worry for the midshipmen because the Captain sees everything and will let you know if something is not right. If he sees that someone has really knocked himself out preparing for the inspection he will also note this. Although this is one of the most extensive inspections nearly everyone works hard preparing for it and as a result everyone looks really sharp just as they should look every-time they wear their uniforms.

CAPT Rohrbough adjusts the cover of a third class midshipmen.

CAPT Rohrbough takes a closer look at a cover.

CHANGE OF COMMAND

The Battalion's annual change of command took place on 30 January 1986. At the ceremony that ushered the 2/C in as the new Unit leaders, MIDN 1/C Michael P. Leary handed the reigns of command to MIDN 2/C John A. Abitabilo. Also at the ceremony, MIDN 1/C Francis DeMarco and Charlie Company were awarded the honor company streamer, and all academic star winners were recognized.

MIDN 2/C Abitabilo presents Vice Admiral Thunman with a ND blanket in gratitude for his appearance at the dining-in.

The seniors make sure they enjoy their last dining-in at Notre Dame.

Vice Admiral Thunman, MSGR Sampson, and CAPT Sweeney converse during the cocktail hour.

LT Wachtl entertains the Midshipmen with sea stories.

DINING-IN

The Battalion held its annual Dining-in on 18 April and as always everyone had a great time. After a social hour, the meal began and the beef was declared to be "fit for human consumption" by the President of the Mess, MIDN CAPT John Abitabilo. After a fine meal, Vice Admiral Nils R. Thunman, Chief of Naval Education and Training, addressed the Battalion. Next came the Toasting portion of the celebration during which many things were toasted; including the Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Army, retiring SKC's and LCDR's (in honor of Chief Darrah and LCDR Hartzell), and newly selected Majors in the Marine Corps (in honor of CAPT Sweeney).

PRESIDENTIAL REVIEW

MIDN 2/C marches his company past Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, CSC and the other reviewing officers.

LT Murkowski looks like he is anxious to get in from the cold.

On 21 April the Battalion joined the other two ROTC Units at the University in the annual Presidential Review. Parades, such as this, throughout history have been held to honor troops entering combat, to celebrate great victories, to recognize the achievement of comrades-in-arms, and to honor those fallen in battle.

This year Reverend Theodore M. Hesburgh, CSC was the reviewing officer. In his remarks Rev. Hesburgh congratulated the cadets and midshipmen on having the courage to stand up for God, country and Notre Dame. He also recalled past Notre Dame graduates who had lost their lives in previous wars. Eventhough the weather was cold and dismal the spirit of the occasion was not lost by the midshipmen and they were all glad to be a part of the highly traditional parade.

NAVY-MARINE CORPS BALL

The Battalion dancing to "Voyage".

On 5 October 1985, the Battalion of Midshipmen enjoyed the second annual Navy/Marine Corps Ball. The event was held in the South Dining Hall as the over 130 couples danced the night away to the music of the Naval Band "Voyage."

When the midshipmen and their dates were not burning holes in the floor, they enjoyed the fine hospitality of the University Food Service and their selection of food and drink.

MIDN Kilroy and his date take a breather.

CAPT Rohrbough sets the pace.

MIDN 1/C Chura has his hands full.

"Honey, how did you like that karate move I picked up from the Marines?"

MIDN 1/C Pete Laches enjoys a dance with his date

MIDN 2/C Ed Hughes and MIDN 4/C Patricia Hannigan pose for our photographer.

BALL

On 7 February the three ROTC Units at the University gathered together to enjoy the annual trimilitary ball. The sounds of the Navy Band "Voyage" combined with a very enthusiastic crowd of midshipmen and cadets made the dance a great success. All those in attendance had a great time and are looking forward to the opportunity of attending the ball again next year.

Notre Dame Mids pose with their dates at the Ball.

MIDN 1/C Todd Christenson enjoys a private conversation with his date.

NAVY SMOKER

MIDN 2/C Ben Pangelinan leads the cheers for ND.

MIDN 1/C Leary threatens early comers to the sub.

CAPT Sweeney and LT Ehlers enjoy the food at the smoker

MIDN 4/C Corrine Glavin looks enthused about the outcome of the game.

The annual smoker was held for the ND-Penn State game this year and although the outcome of the game was not very good the Midshipmen in attendance had a good time and at least enjoyed the food and camaraderie even if they didn't enjoy the manner in which the Fightin' Irish played the game.

NAVY-MARINE CORPS CONCESSION STAND

The day of the Notre Dame-LSU game set the stage for the Battalion Concession stand. Despite the cold temperatures, many midshipmen braved the elements to give the fans their fill of hot dogs, hamburgers, and Captain Sweeney's ever popular hot apple cider.

The bountiful profits filled the Navy/Marine Corps' treasury, while the midshipmen did their duty of filling the fans empty stomachs.

"I STAND RELIEVED"

MIDN 2/C Shereda and Shebroe provide the customers with the food they want.

These Mids could be hired as chefs from the looks of it.

The hot apple cider definitely was the best seller.

NAVY-MARINE CORPS BIRTHDAY

CAPT Martin cuts the first piece of cake for the oldest midshipmen, MIDN 1/C Chris Stune.

MSGR Sampson cuts the cake with a Marine Corps sword.

MIDN 4/C Michael Reyda enjoys his piece of cake.

On 7 November the Battalion celebrated the 210th birthday of the Navy and Marine Corps. The event is celebrated world wide by all the different units of the Marine Corps and Navy. The featured guest of the ceremony was the Commanding Officer of the NROTC Unit at the Illinois Institute of Technology, CAPT J. L. Martin. He gave a stirring speech about U.S. and USSR relations which kept the midshipmen in attendance interested. After hearing the birthday greetings from the CNO and the Commandant the traditional birthday cake was cut by CAPT Martin and MSGR Sampson. As tradition states the first two pieces of cake went to the oldest midshipman in the Battalion, MIDN 1/C Chris Stune, and the youngest midshipman, MIDN 4/C Michael Reyda.

MIDN 1/C Bandura offers a prayer on behalf of the Battalion.

BATTALION MASS

On 29 September the Battalion held its annual Battalion Mass. The Battalion had an excellent turnout with over 200 midshipmen in attendance and was followed with a great steak and egg breakfast in the Dining Hall. MSGR Sampson celebrated the mass and was his usual spectacular self.

An all volunteer group of Midshipmen provided the music for the mass.

MSGR Sampson delivers the homily along with some sea stories.

MIDN 3/C Timothy Phillips receives communion from MSGR Sampson.

CPR

MIDN 1/C Bill Lauson practices his CPR techniques on the mannequin.

The Battalion again learned the basics of CPR techniques and choking remedies. For the upperclassmen it was a good review of techniques which they learned in the previous years and for the freshmen it provided valuable training which may help save someone's life someday. During the two-part Race for Life program taught by the South Bend Chapter of the Red Cross, the midshipmen learned one-rescuer CPR techniques and also learned the methods in which to help someone who is choking.

Midshipmen broke into groups of three to practice their CPR techniques.

MIDN 1/C Pat Burns sure looks like he's having fun learning how to save a choking victim.

JUNIOR PARENTS' WEEKEND

MIDN 2/C John Mullane and his parents view the navigation displays which are set up in the Junior Classroom.

MIDN 2/C Wolters and his parents talk to LT Ehlers.

The unit hosted a reception on 22 February in conjunction with the Junior Parents' Weekend sponsored by the University. The reception provided the parents with the opportunity to meet the Unit's staff and also get a glimpse of the future life of their son or daughter. After conversing with the staff over coffee and cake, the parents were given an opportunity to watch one of four different movies presenting either the Aviation, Submarine, or Surface Ship Community or the Marine Corps.

MIDN 2/C Junge, Cameron, and Farley pose for a picture with their parents.

SENIOR

Tad Brown says, "This sure looks good".

The annual senior picnic again provided the seniors with a last chance to party together with friends which they have made through their four years in the Unit. The seniors got together, and with the Unit staff, had a great time. Many enjoyable sports were played and many people used this time to retell all those stories which they accumulated in their time here at good old ND.

Paul Zimmer thinks that it's only soda.

PICNIC

Bill Lauson, Mike Skoudas, Pete Bowen and Tom Carnesi relax before preparing to enter TBS.

Many sports such as volleyball were played at the picnic.

SENIOR DINNER

The seniors and the Unit staff got together for the annual senior dinner at the University Club. Besides alot of food and drink the seniors and the officers had a great time throughout the night with each group getting their last digs in on the other with many skits.

John Wackowski provides some interesting entertainment.

The seniors perform the "ROTC Shuffle"

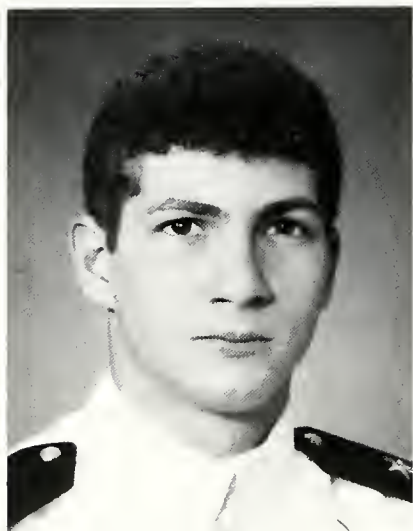

CAPT Sweeney is acting "Cool" again.

1986 COMMISSIONING

17 May 1986 marked the day on which 65 Notre Dame seniors received their commissions in the United States Navy or Marine Corps. In a combined ceremony with the Army and Air Force Units at the University of Notre Dame the Navy Options were sworn in by CAPT John D. Rohrbough and the Marine Options were sworn in by Brigadier General Deegan.

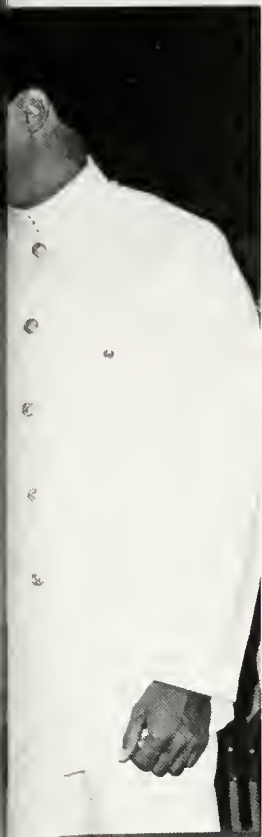

The new Ensigns congratulate one another.

ENS Bennett receives his commission from CAPT Rohrbough.
